A METHOD FOR DYNAMIC CONFIGURATION OF A MOBILE ACCESS POINT

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A method for dynamic configuration of a mobile access point. A position

5   of the mobile access point is determined based on a position determination system. A region is identified based on position. Configuration information associated with an application of the mobile access point is automatically updated based on the region.